Attention: Tom Wheeler, Chairman

Dear Chairman Wheeler,

My cable TV bills are too high. I'm tired of paying an average of $200 a year to rent the cable box that's connected to my TV, when I should be able to purchase the box or other equipment for a lot less.

I applaud the FCC's efforts to consider a plan that would allow consumers to avoid those rental fees. All of us should have the freedom to select the device we want to watch our favorite TV channels.

I urge the commission to pass a new rule that protects cable customers from unfair cable box fees, thereby lowering my monthly cable bills.

Thank you.
